The Alliance provides a clear and persuasive voice for the business community and advocates for business-friendly legislation at local, state and federal levels.

The Waukesha County Business Alliance provides a clear and persuasive voice for the business community and advocates for business-friendly legislation at local, state and federal levels. Here are our five policy areas of focus for 2019:

Workforce development is the number one issue facing Waukesha County, the Milwaukee 7 region and our state. An Alliance survey found that more than 85 percent of Waukesha County employers plan to expand their workforce in the next three years, yet 82 percent are unable to find enough qualified workers. The Alliance is committed to developing, identifying and supporting policy solutions that strengthen our region's talent pipeline.

Recognizing that high quality schools are critical to developing educated citizens and a strong future workforce, the Alliance is focused on fostering effective business-education partnerships at all levels. We support Waukesha County students in being both college and career ready and help families and educators understand job opportunities in the marketplace today and in the future.

Waukesha County's economic vitality depends on modern, safe and efficient infrastructure networks, from our transportation systems to our water supply. In particular, we recognize the need for a sustainable funding solution to meet the critical transportation infrastructure needs of our state. The effective flow of goods, services and people is fundamental to business growth and a vibrant economy.

To enhance the work of the Waukesha County Center for Growth, our county's two-year-old economic development organization, the Alliance advocates for local, state and federal policies that support economic development, foster business growth and allow Wisconsin to remain competitive with other states. Because Waukesha County's economy is inextricably linked to Milwaukee and the broader region, the Alliance is also an active participant in the efforts of the Milwaukee 7 to build a vibrant regional economy.

To ensure adequate resources are available to meet our most critical public needs, the Alliance supports policies that promote and increase government efficiencies and collaboration at all levels. We strive to serve as a resource that connects the public and private sectors in order to facilitate best practice sharing and problem solving.

If you are interested in joining our efforts to ensure a strong, pro-business climate, please contact us.

LEGISLATIVE PROCESS

1 INTRODUCTION

Bill is introduced before the Assembly or Senate (1st reading). If they support it, legislators from the same house can sign on as co-authors, while members of the opposite house sign on as co-sponsors.

2 IN COMMITTEE

The legislature usually assigns a bill to a relevant committee. While in committee, legislative service agencies research the bill to determine its impact.

Bills that involve spending state money or raising taxes are also sent to the Joint Committee on Finance to discuss the cost and financial impact. Committees also generally hold public hearings.

A committee may offer amendments to a bill. Then, it sends its analysis back to the legislature, usually with a recommendation.

3 BACK TO THE FLOOR

A bill is read again before the legislature (2nd reading). Legislators vote on individual amendments and may offer more amendments.

Then, the bill is read a third time, and legislators vote on the completed bill with any amended changes. If it passes, it's sent to the other house to undergo the same process. If amendments are made in the second house, the bill is sent back to the first house, to make sure that they agree.

4 TO THE GOVERNOR

When a bill has passed both houses, it's sent to the governor to sign it or veto it. If it's an 'appropriations bill,' (for which state money is set aside, like the state budget), the governor may veto parts of the bill, and pass the rest. The legislature may override a veto, if two-thirds of both houses vote in favor of the bill. When the bill is passed, it becomes an act, and its changes are added into the statutes as law.
